Type of Software Testing

Functional Testing

Smoke Testing Test application's core functionalities use test product feature in limited time Unit Testing Regression Testing · Process of testing individual · test existing software application Process of resting individual component perform by developers use test specification for testing change major requirement • re-runs test scenario were originally Functional Testing Sanity Testing User Acceptance test existing software application change minor requirement no scripted test cases check planed function working expect Testing compare program with its initial requirement perform by end-user developer conduct test during if change or addition minor requirement

if change or addition major

System Testing

compare entire system to its original objective

Non-Functional Testing

development

